About Me

Trade Marketing & Commercial Growth professional with over 8 years of experience driving retail execution, territory growth, and integrated marketing activation across highly competitive FMCG markets. Throughout my career, I have led territory growth initiatives and trade marketing programs by translating market intelligence, retail insights, and partner needs into practical commercial strategies that strengthen retail execution and create shared value for both the business and its partners. This approach has enabled me to improve retail visibility, product availability, outlet execution, expand commercial partnerships, and identify sustainable growth opportunities across diverse territories. My expertise spans trade marketing, retail execution, market intelligence, demand planning, new product launches, consumer engagement, cross-functional collaboration, business performance optimization, and data analysis using SQL, Python, Tableau, and Nielsen Retail Audit data. Driven by solving commercial challenges through insight, collaboration, and disciplined execution, I am committed to delivering sustainable business growth and operational excellence, and am open to relocating for the right career opportunity.
